Computer Science

We are proud to present a selection of the latest high-impact publications* in computer science by Chinese researchers across from Springer Nature. We hope you enjoy reading this selection and find it helpful.

*High-impact publications include top one percent highly cited papers in their academic fields as of July/August 2020, according to Essential Science Indicators, and highly downloaded, cited and mentioned book chapters, according to SN Insights.